

Women in Grey Women in Blue

Chorus

Women in gray, women in blue
Hard to remember we're sisters too
Looking in looking out
We are windows unto each other
(And we) all deserve, and we all deserve to be free

Every day we're passing by Looking cautiously in the eye
A watchful look, not always seeing
How close we are as human beings.

Chorus

Hard to remember we're sisters too
Looking in looking out
We are windows unto each other
(And we) all deserve, and we all deserve to be seen

Women in walls and women with strings
Each has her cage, and each has her wings
Women with troubles and women with fear
Voicing pain the other can't hear

Chorus...

Hard to remember we're sisters too
Looking in looking out
We are windows unto each other
(And we) all deserve, and we all deserve to be heard

Women in gray, women in blue
Hard to remember we're sisters too
Looking in looking out
We are windows unto each other
(And we) all deserve, and we all deserve to be free

Written collectively by participants in the EFry Singing My Way Home songwriting workshops at NBCC